Later that same week, TEI Director Ashahed M. Muhammad continued his hectic schedule traveling to what is called "The Great Northwest" Portland, Oregon.

"The first question people asked when I said I was being brought to Portland was are there Black people there? The second question was, Isn't that where the Caucasians want to set up their all-white homeland? However, there is a conscious group of Black activists in Portland, Oregon ready to make radical changes," said Muhammad.

Co-sponsored by Open Eyes Productions Incorporated and the Muhammad Study Group of Portland, Oregon, Mr. Muhammad conducted a book signing and lecture which included a thought-provoking Q & A session at the Talking Drum Bookstore.

Following that appearance, they immediately went to a local Portland television studio to tape a one on one interview with Mr. Muhammad dealing specifically with the book "The Synagogue of Satan" for the entire hour.

After that, Mr. Muhammad was one of the members of a panel for a reparations forum that included some of the grass-roots activists and spiritual leadership in the Portland area.

The tour was wrapped up with Mr. Muhammad as the keynote speaker on Sunday at the Portland Study Group under the leadership of the Honorable Minister Louis Farrakhan.
